REQUIEM.

BY CHARLES SPRAGUE.

I see thee still!
Remembrance, faithful to her trust,
Calls thee in beauty from the dust;
Thou comest in the morning light—
Thou'rt with me through the gloomy night,
In dreams I meet thee as of old.
Then thy soft arms my neck enfold,
And thy sweet voice is in my ear;
In every scene to memory dear
I see thee still.

I see thee still;
In every hallowed token round;
This little ring thy finger bound—
This lock of hair thy forehead shaded,
This silver chain by thee was braded;
These flowers, all withered now like thee,
Beloved, thou didst cull for me:
This book was thine—here didst thou read—
This picture, ah! yes, here indeed
I see thee still!

I see thee still;
Thou art not in the tomb confined,
Death cannot claim the immortal mind,
Let earth close o'er its sacred trust,
Yet goodness dies not in the dust.
Then, oh Beloved, 'tis not thee,
Beneath the coffin lid I see;
Thou to a fairer land art gone—
There let me hope, my journey done,
To see thee still!

The following stanzas, written sometime since by a lady, have been handed to us for publication.

FOR THE CALEDONIAN.

TO THE MURDERERS OF
E. P. LOVEJOY.

The deed is done! the spirit fled,
To dwell in upper skies,
A martyr numbers with the dead;
His grave in Alton lies.

Your hands are reeking in the blood
Of one who plead with might,
For God and for his country stood,
For liberty, and light

Swift through his true devoted breast,
That felt for others woes,
Your cruel, deadly bullets preest,
And checked life's healthful throes.

Lovejoy stood by his injured cause,
As Peter by his Lord,
But counter to his Master's laws,
Drew the defensive sword.

Oh! 'twas a warm mistaken zeal
That burned—'twill be forgiven,
Since he sought not a selfish weal,
But fought the cause of Heaven.

While for the loss of him we grieve,
Who sleeps beneath the sod,
In future, place beneath its sheath,
The sword—and trust in God.

Oh, what a fiendish yell was rung
Around his lifeless head,
As murderous lips of old and young
Exulting cried, "he's dead!"

Thought ye of her—that bosom friend,
Whose heart ye'd rent in twain?
And of those babes? Who'll now defend?
What father clasp again?

Long had ye thirsted for his blood,
He for the faith was bold,
And well Altonians understood
His was not bought with gold.

He plead for rights his country gave
Of speech, and for the press;
He died in struggling to save,
Shall he have no redress?

Ye western wolves! was't not enough
To tear one tender heart?
Look on your dripping claws! so rough;
A nation feels the smart.

From faithful friends their strength will bring,
To spend for freedom's laws.
"It is a freewill offering,"
Due to our God and cause.

But ye have made a reckless thrust
At freedom's vital part;
Yet never in her heart shall rust,
That treacherous, fatal dart.

No! think not thus to stifle all
Our Abolition life—
Our injured brother's recent fall
But wakes us to the strife.

And Oh! proud Alton! thine's a stain,
The eye with horror meets;
Not Mississippi's tide again
Can cleanse thy guilty streets.

If ever blood for blood should cry,
Or life for life be given,
Then should those ruthless murderers die,
And feel the wrath of Heaven.

Yet 'tis not ours to deal the blow,
Your blood we would not shed,
But let truth's living embers glow,
Heaped on your guilty heads.

We ask not that a withering blight
On you and yours be sent,
We ask to change from wrong to right;
We say, repent! repent!

MORAL & RELIGIOUS.

A PRECIOUS THOUGHT

What can be so consoling to the heart of feeble man as the thought that his Maker cares for him, and will save him from the cruel tyranny of his sins! Hours of despondency and gloom often cast their shadows over the Christians' mind; but when the sweet impressions revisit his soul, that his Redeemer cares for him, it is sunshine with his heart again. What pen can reveal the seriousness of the thoughts of Almighty love that steal into the soul with all their balmy fragrance! In the silent hours of night, when creation slumbers around, one Christian on his bed whose soul is throbbing under the inexpressible pulsation of heavenly love, feels more happiness than all created worlds can bestow. He lies on a bed of spices; images of beauty and glory cluster thickly into his entranced soul. His thoughts respond to the promptings of celestial ones who for aught we know may be waving their dewy wings around his pillow!

One hour spent thus, is worth a whole ceaseless unending eternity of bondage to the pleasure of the sense. Memory will go back with unfailing exactness to such an hour, and the soul will yearn for it again with immortal desire. To believe that the pure, unchangeable and omnipotent Saviour thinks kindly of us—and that the promptings of his spirit applies to us, notwithstanding our unworthiness, some precious promise of his word; this is worth living for. For this may we gladly suffer and toil on thro' the trials of poverty and mental anxiety. But blessedness like this is ours. This precious thought is our inheritance here and hereafter, and the perpetual sunshine of the soul which cheers the inhabitants of the upper world.—N. Y. Mirror.

SHORT SERMON.—It was the custom with that peaceable and quiet sect, the quakers, to hold their meeting two hours and retire in silence, if the spirit moved not one to a word of exhortation. Just as one of their silent sessions, of two hours was about expiring and the assembly, about breaking up a venerable friend rose and said, "If every man would mind his own business there would be less trouble in the world." The audience retired with profitable meditations on this comprehensive sermon.

Because there are some religious hypocrites, many men are weak enough to consider all religion a fable. They might with the same propriety consider the whole human race thieves, because a few are confined in the Penitentiary. It was a golden query of Dr Franklin, in answer to one of the importunate letters of Tom Paine, that "if men were so wicked with religion, what would they do without it?"

THE GREAT FIRST CAUSE.—"Without a God to whom he is related and accountable," says Dr Hopkins, President of William College, in his late excellent sermon delivered before the Legislature of Massachusetts, "man has neither dignity nor hope. Without God, the universe has no cause, its contrivances indicate no intelligence, its providence no goodness, its related parts and processes no unity, its events no convergence to one grand result, and the glorious spectacle presented in the earth and the heavens, instead of calling forth admiration and songs, is an enigma perplexing to the intellect, and torturing to the heart. Seen in its connexion with God, the universe of matter is as the evening cloud that lies in the sunlight, radiant and skirted with glory, with him it is the same cloud cold & dark when the sunlight is gone. Without God man is an orphan; he has no protector here, and no Father's house in which he may hope for a mansion hereafter.—His life is at his own disposal, and has no value except in relation to his personal and present enjoyment."

SICKNESS.—Sickness and disease are in weak minds the sources of melancholy; but that which is painful to the body may be profitable to the soul. Sickness, the mother of modesty, puts us in mind of our mortality; and while we drive on heedlessly, in the full career of worldly pomp and jollity, kindly pulls us by the ear, and brings us to a proper sense of our duty.

APPLICATION.

To the Hon. the Probate Court for the District of Caledonia.

THE undersigned, Administrator of the Estate of JOHN RUSSELL, late of Barnet, in said District, deceased, respectfully represents, that the personal estate of the deceased is not sufficient to pay his just debts and costs of settlement, by the sum of One Hundred and fifty dollars; that the said deceased was at the time of his death, seized and possessed of real estate within the state of Vermont, and he therefore prays the honorable Court to grant him license to sell the real estate of the said deceased to enable him to pay the same aforesaid together with the cost attending the same.

Dated at Danville, this 29th day of April, A. D. 1839.

JAMES RUSSELL.

STATE OF VERMONT,

At a Probate Court holden at Danville, in said District, on the 29th day of April, A. D. 1839, by Geo. B. CHANDLER, Judge of said Court. THE foregoing application having been duly presented to said Court—it is ordered, by said Court that the heirs, and all concerned in said estate be notified of said application, and that the same will be taken into consideration at a Probate Court, to be holden at the Probate Office, in Danville, in said District, on the 22d day of May, A. D. 1839, by publishing the said application, together with a copy of the record of this order three weeks successively in the Caledonian, a newspaper printed at St. Johnsbury, in said District.

DR. WILLIAM EVANS' CAMOMILE PILLS.

HAPPY would it have been for many persons, of both sexes, who are now in the silent grave, if they had learned to check the morbid tendencies of their stomachs and bowels, by these pure Tonic and Aperient Pills, manufactured by Dr. Wm. Evans, of New York, without resorting to quack remedies, the names of which they know nothing. That dreadful scourge CONSUMPTION, might have been checked in its commencement, and the first symptoms of Nervous Debility had been concentrated by CAMOMILE, chemically prepared, and those bowel complaints, which lead to a host of fatal maladies, might have been obviated by that fine alkaline extract of Rheubarb, which is a leading ingredient in the APERIENT FAMILY PILLS. Before both of these medicines, which are adapted to a majority of the purposes for which a hundred others are unnecessarily used, fevers, agues, bilious disorders, headache, female debility, male decline, indigestion, and liver complaint, would have entirely disappeared, where many of them have proved fatal. The afflicted reader is respectfully asked to give them a trial. You are assured they will do you no harm—and as a proof of their great virtues Dr. Evans need only tell you that they are sold by patent Medicines of the present day that are recommended by and have the approval of Physicians generally. See Dr. Evans' advertisement in another part of this paper.

Messrs E. P. Walton and Son of Montpelier, are the appointed Agents for the sale of the above valuable Pills, and they are authorized to appoint Sub-Agents in other towns and to supply them with the medicine.

They are also the appointed Agents for the sale of that most excellent article for children when cutting their Teeth—Paris' Celebrated Soothing Syrup. If mothers will but give it a trial they never will have cause to regret it.

Moffat's Life Medicines—Reanimation.

WHEN the most important functions of life are suspended, and those who are invalids by inheritance or imprudence are reduced to a deplorable state of nervous debility, they should not even then despair, for it is not in despair that relief can be found. No—let them first look around; and laying aside all prejudices, ask themselves this question—"If my physician cannot help me, is his reputed skill my only resort?"

Moffat's Vegetable Life Medicines possess qualities of the most mild and beneficial nature. They are composed of articles the most anti putrescent, combined with ingredients known as the only certain antidote for fevers of every description.—When the disease is produced either from cold, obstruction, bad air, swampy and camp situations, or putrid miasma whether malignant or epidemic, or by other causes, these medicines are certain in their operation or effects. They are possessed of peculiar qualities which not only expel all disease, but at the same time restore and invigorate the system. When first taken into the stomach, they immediately diffuse themselves like vapor through every pore, producing effects at once delightful, salutary and permanent. When the spark of life begins to grow dim, the circulation languid, and the faculties paralyzed, these medicines are found to give a tone to the nerves, exhilarate the animal spirits, invigorate the body, and re-animate the whole man.

THE LIFE MEDICINES have also been used with the most happy success in Nervous and Dyspeptic diseases, Consumption, Asthma, Liver Complaint, Rheumatism, (chronic and inflammatory) Dropsies, &c. &c.

The following letters are lately selected from a very large number which Mr Moffat has lately received from different parts of the United States.

Mr Moffat—Dear Sir: It is with sincere pleasure that I venture to address you, to thank you for the benefit I have received from your medicines. My complaint was salt rheum, for which I have tried nearly all the medicines advertised in the newspapers. I, however received no relief from any of them. Since, I was shown your Good Samaritan, which induced me to try your medicine. When I applied to you, my legs and arms were so bad that they looked like raw beef, and were covered with scabs; but after taking a 25 cent box of your pills the dead skin began to scale off, and so continued until I was entirely cured. It is now four months since I was cured, and I have had no return of the complaint. I have recommended your medicine to several persons, and advise all afflicted with the salt rheum to try it.

Respectfully, your ob't. serv't. M. CLEOVER.

13th st. between 5th and Jackson avenues.

LAWRENCE, N. Y., May 23.

Mr Moffat—Dear Sir: I was troubled with the pile for several years. I applied to the most eminent Physician without relief. A friend of mine Mr Clarke, who had received great relief from them, recommended me to use your Life Pills. Though I was suffering very severely with them at the time, I experienced relief in 48 hours and in a few weeks was not troubled with them at all and I have been free from distress ever since and have great pleasure in recommending them to those afflicted in a similar manner. Respectfully,

J. E. STEARNS.

NEW YORK, APRIL, 1838.

Dr Moffat—Sir: Since your Life Medicines have been introduced into this neighborhood, they have done wonders. I will merely state a few cases. The wife of my neighbor, Mr Cornelius S. Roe, who was supposed to be in a decline for the last two years, after taking two bottles of the Phoenix Bitters and one box of the Life Pills says she has her health entirely restored.

Mr Milo B. Root, my next door neighbor, who was laid up with inflammatory rheumatism, by taking two bottles of the Bitters and one 25 cent box of the Pills, told me he was as well as ever he was, and told a gentleman in my store who was afflicted, that as soon as he would take the Pills and Bitters, just so soon would he be a well man.

Also Mrs Hordy, wife of John Hordy, was two years since taken sick, and often had fits, and lost the use of one of her arms. In six weeks after taking your Pills and Bitters, she has so far recovered that she has been on a visit to one of her neighbors.

As for myself I have been in bad health for 27 years, and though I am not now in perfect health, still I am in better health than I have been for ten years past, which I believe to be in consequence of taking your Pills and Bitters. The above is a true statement of a few of the many cases which have come under my observation. You are at liberty to publish this letter and reference can be had to me as Postmaster at Calverbrook, Columbia Co., N. Y. With respect,

J. A. VAN VALKENBURGH.

NEW YORK, April 1, 1838.

Mr W. Moffat—Sir: I have been afflicted with the fever and ague about 3 months, and used a good deal of quinine, which did me no good, but I still grow weaker and weaker until I was recommended to try your Life Pills and Phoenix Bitters, and after taking two boxes of pills and two bottles of bitters, I am very thankful to inform you and the public at large, I consider myself completely cured.

Yours truly,

JOHN TENNENT.

SUMMIT HILL, Jan. 18, 1838.
Dr Moffat—Dear Sir: I have great pleasure in addressing you, having been troubled for some time back with the rheumatism, and could find nothing to give me any relief, until I had commenced taking your Vegetable Life Pills and Phoenix Bitters. In taking the first bottle and one box of pills I found the most exasperating pain that I had long been troubled with, entirely disappeared. Such being the case, it is with gratitude I offer these sentiments, feeling confident that I am indebted to you more than words can express, for your valuable medicine and the speedy cure received from its good effects. Yours, &c

GEO. BROFTS.

MAUCH CHUNG, Jan. 17, 1838.

Mr Moffat—Sir: I am most happy to send you through your agent, Mr White, a few lines relative to your excellent Life Medicines. For a length of time I have been complaining of an infection of the liver, and tried much medicine, but found no relief, until I commenced with yours, I have now taken nearly two bottles of your Phoenix Bitters, and I am pleased to state that I find myself fast recovering from a long and lingering complaint.

Respectfully, yours, &c.

GEO. KISNER.

LOCKPORT, Nov. 27, 1837.
Mr W. B. Moffat—Dear Sir: As a remarkable instance of the virtue and efficacy of your Life Pills and Phoenix Bitters, in restoring lost health to the afflicted, has occurred in my family, I deem it a duty I owe both to yourself and the public, to make the fact known, that others suffering under similar circumstances might perchance see this and obtain a remedy in season to preserve them from a premature grave.

My wife has been afflicted with the liver complaint and general debility for upwards of 3 years; and for the last three months she has not been able to walk across the room. After trying various medicines prescribed by various physicians, which gave her no relief, she was given up as incurable. In this situation she was gradually failing, when I happened to call upon your agent in this village, and he gave me a copy of the Good Samaritan, and perusing of which induced me to try your medicine, although I had but little hope of her receiving any benefit from it. The effect was surprising. Before she had taken one bottle of bitters and one box of pills, she was so far recovered as to be able to accomplish most of her house-work without assistance. Yours, Respectfully, W. PARRISON.

For additional particulars of the above medicine see Moffat's Good Samaritan, a copy of which accompanies the medicine; and can be obtained on application at the drug store of LUTHUR JEWETT, St. Johnsbury, where the above medicine is kept constantly for sale.
